I am taking part in the London Marathon 2009

in aid of the Hannah Edwards Cancer Appeal, registered charity 1113954. Hannah, is a normal fun loving, out going, cheeky 8 year old apart from one aspect of her young life. Hannah is fighting Neuroblastoma, an extremely rare and aggressive form of childhood cancer. Only about 100 children are diagnosed with this disease in the UK each year. Hannah re-lapsed shortly before Christmas 2006.

Currently the only place in the world that can truly help children like Hannah fight against this disease is America. Unfortunately for us to be able to get Hannah over there for treatment the cost is estimated to be in the region of £750,000.

Without the support of kind and generous people and organisations, such as yours, our chances of getting Hannah over to America for this possibly life saving treatment are non existent. With your support anything can be possible, please give generously.
